HEALTH LEADERSHIP IN THE CHEMICAL INDUSTRY ANNUAL CONFERENCE - 4 MARCH 2015, Eversheds LLP, Water Lane, Leeds, LS11 5DR

The conference is open to both CIA members and non-members.

CIA's Health Leadership Steering Group looks forward to welcoming you to the 2015 Conference, which focuses on health partnerships and how member companies manage health issues.

Do you understand what Sustainable Health and Wellbeing means in your organisation?

A workplace can have a significant impact on an individuals' health, and protecting the health of those who work for your organisation is at the heart of every sustainable business; it looks after your best resource, your people!

Have you a proactive approach, the right people; a programme of management, the correct tools, measures and systems in place to monitor and also improve understanding and performance?

This is what beyond compliance means.

Successful companies are those who have programmes to deliver this agenda, improving understanding, management of individual and organisational growth and development.

Are you aware of HSE's new research on occupational diseases in the chemical industry that reports the number of incidents to be higher than in other manufacturing sectors?

Why attend?

Do you want to come and find out more, and join in with facilitated discussions with your peers to discover how industry leaders do this?

Organisations are often reactive in workplace health and are not forward looking enough. This conference aims to show how by being proactive, health can not only benefit the health of your best resource – its people, but also the organisation itself. Absolutely everyone in the organisation, from the top down and bottom up, has a duty of care towards health leadership. Sustainable healthy workplaces cannot be achieved unless health leadership becomes a core part of an organisation's ethos.

Delegates will be specialists and non-specialists from human resources and SHE departments involved in workplace health management.
